

CRISTIN TIERNEY

9 ART EVENTS TO ATTEND IN NEW YORK CITY THIS WEEK

by The Editors, ARTnews

Opening: Victor Burgin at Cristin Tierney

Space is the place in Victor Burgin's work, which looks at how prairies and landscapes get embedded in our memory. In fact, Burgin's name might be somewhere deep in people's minds—his work, like that of many British Conceptualists fell out of favor until a recent Tate survey of the movement. Now, however, Burgin will have two shows running simultaneously in New York. In his Cristin Tierney show, recent digital projects that reconstruct arid landscapes will look at how the American Midwest gets mythologized. Meanwhile, downtown, at Bridget Donahue, older works from Burgin's "UK76" series, in which advertisement-like images of British society are pasted directly onto the gallery wall, will be on view. (There is no opening reception for the Bridget Donahue show.)

Cristin Tierney, 540 West 28th Street, 6–8 p.m.
