

CRISTIN TIERNEY

artnetnews

Here Are 51 New York Gallery Shows That You Need to (Somehow) See This September

There's no shortage of great art in New York this fall.

Sarah Cascone, September 7, 2017

Detail of Alois Kronschlaeger's Untitled (2017). Courtesy of Cristin Tierney Gallery and the artist.

43. "Alois Kronschlaeger: New York" at Cristin Tierney

Alois Kronschlaeger pulls hand-dyed Merino wool through and across aluminum mesh to create his Constructionist-tinged fiber works. Displayed in the round stacked in a 12-foot-tower, or on hinged frames, these pieces cry out to be seen in person, where they cast dramatic shadows and shift in appearance depending on the viewing angle.

540 West 28th Street, September 14–October 28, 2017; opening reception, 6 p.m.–8 p.m.